

27th Annual Rhino Invitational Tournament
Player Rankings and Predictions
 (* = Rhino championship won)

Golfer	Ave. post-2003	#Yrs. post-2003	2011 Rhino Outlook
Johnno Sheehan	76.0	2	Lobbying for the inclusion of bowling in Rhino scores, and the return of his “amateur” status
Gus Kearny	76.5	4	Abandoned Rhino for AOL pro circuit in 2008; finishes have been more exciting ever since
Scott Nengel*	80	5	Enigmatic 2002 champ has been at or near the top of the field virtually every year
Mason Hecker	80	1	Rhino rookie shot 80 last year; commission still investigating status as “ringer”
Rich Armstrong	80	2	Two-time champ has not played in Rhino since 2006; has the game passed him by?
Bruce Palmieri*	81.1	7	“Country Club” is willing to slum and play a muni once a year, but only for a great cause
John Reddan*	81.3	3	Aug reportedly modifying old shoulder harness into full Iron Man suit to debut this year
Steve Murray	82	4	No relation to Bill, but hoping to channel the Caddyshack icon’s mojo from Pebble Beach
Bruce Hemstreet	83	1	After 12 years away, had a glorious return to Rhino in 2009, finishing tied for second
David Forrest	83.7	7	Crowd favorite still trying to shed the title “Best Player Never To Have Won The Rhino”
Rudy Barnes	83.7	7	On New Year’s Eve, Matt used to declare it would be someone’s year. This is Rudy’s year.
Todd Berger	84	7	Anger management classes with Charlie Sheen finally paid off with big Rhino win in 2009
Bob Weir	85.1	7	Two-time champ famed for smooth lefty swing, bucket hats, and ingenious side bets
Bill Fields	85.7	6	Scrappy defending champ has to play in first group this year – a true test of mental toughness
Jon Sack*	85.9	7	Only 4-time champ prefers “urban feel” of Clifton Park; still adapting to Herndon
Curtis Lu	87.3	7	Mr. Consistent seldom strays from high-80s score; credits Bill Murray for “keeping me loose”
Todd Etter	87.7	7	Views golf as an 18-step puzzle, but still hasn’t figured out the “meta-puzzle” that is Herndon
Greg Weltz	88	1	Rhino rookie applied basketball zone defense principles to the links with success last year
Erik Burgess	89	1	Reconstructed ACL is like a lottery ticket for better golf . . . or not
Ram Srinivasan	89	2	Now a full-fledged MD, scores may plummet with extra practice time
Amarin Sangkharat	89	2	Rumors that he inspired several “Grey’s Anatomy” episodes have finally been disproved
Dave McCready	89.8	5	Big Dave brings physicality of the English Premier League to golf . . . in a nice way
Bruce Anderson	91	6	The “quiet” Anderson brother applies physical chemistry background for consistent iron play
Charlie Scarborough	91.1	7	Tourney host is now just happy to complete a round without suffering a catastrophic injury
James Assey*	91.3	3	After sharing championship in 1993, James “re-tooled” swing for lobbying purposes
Ann Etter	92.3	3	Shattered Rhino gender barrier in 1994, and still believes “beer is good”
Jim Maloney	92.7	6	NJ laundromat kingpin is well-connected and dangerous – both on and off the course

Player Rankings and Predictions
 (* = Rhino championship won)

Mike Curtis	94	6	Transplanted to Georgia, Mike's greater access to golf courses could resurrect his game
Thomas Norton	94	1	When not golfing, he will check your computer for viruses
Dirk Suringa	95	2	Dirk has dusted brother-in-law T. Scott in both Rhinos he completed
Mark Goodin	95.6	5	Blames Democrats for deficit woes and every bogey (or worse) on his card
Mike Spinelli	96	1	Has taken time off from golf to lobby full-time to have a pasta named after him
Mike Nilsson	96	1	When he plays, has the highest "viewer ratings" of anyone in the Rhino field
Chris Stevenson	96.1	6	Mr. Boh reported to be "too big for Herndon"; may resort to putter-only strategy in 2011
C.A. Pilling	96.8	6	Does "C.A." mean "consistently average"? Has shot 96 in last three Rhinos
Paul Kelly	97	1	Attempting to establish a trade association composed entirely of 80s cover bands
Eric Weber	98.3	4	E-Web was part of the Anderson "Fab 5" in early 90s; now just trying to avoid major injuries
Dave Hendrix	99	1	Lost in a "Purple Haze" of NCAA basketball pools, Dave has only 1 start in past 7 Rhinos
Dean Krehmeyer	100	3	Still trying to sort out ethical issues to permit return of "Delta sponsorship" for his foursome
Steve Nally	100.5	4	Determined to play in the Rhino for as long as it takes to get average back below 100
Mike Pryzby	101	5	Developing gravity-defying ball based on engineering work with Space Shuttle payloads
Mike Schiavo	102	1	Bike guy described as the "Lance Armstrong of golf"; just means he is impervious to pain
Eric Jones	105	1	Plane ticket from Atlanta – $300; Rhino entry – $ 100; beating Pryzby in Rhino – priceless!
Dale Lumme	105	1	As a Navy pilot, they called him "Kid"; at the Rhino, needs a "wingman" to find lost balls
Dave McCarthy	105.3	3	Has modified orange GTMO jump suits into snazzy golf pants
Conrad Ello	105.5	3	Ello rhymes with Jello, and that's funny all by itself
Eric Anderson*	105.7	7	Dubious distinction: no other former Rhino champ has an average higher than 100
Ken Schwartz	105.8	5	Happy Gilmore putting-stroke and colorful language is always a hit with the fans
Paul Flatin	106	1	Rhino rookie found swimming prowess unhelpful in Herndon water hazards last year
Chris Guthrie	106.5	6	Like Fred Couples, if his back holds up, he can be dangerous; if not, still "dangerous"
Ellis Butler	106.7	7	Beer intake directly proportional to golfing success . . . up to about 6; then the singing starts
Christina Murray	107.2	6	Did she get the nickname "X" from her Rhino scorecard?
Jon Tuttle	109	4	True fact: Bruce Arena basically told Tuts he was "too smart" to play soccer at UVa
Mark Hill	109	4	Soccer player best known for unorthodox use of "foot wedge" out of bunkers
David Gallagher	109.2	5	Normally, a new baby adds two strokes, but Dave is anything but "normal"
David Bird	110.8	6	Former AUCP "First Gentleman" is always consistent: shot 110-112 in 5 of 6 last Rhinos

Player Rankings and Predictions
 (* = Rhino championship won)

Jeff Berger	112	2	Planning to demand a “wrestle-off” after brother Todd beats him again this year
Tony Bonta	112.5	2	Big Tony is reportedly too busy “running the docks” in Baltimore to play in the Rhino
Tom Scott	112.6	7	Will this year’s rhyming Xmas card include some couplets about the Rhino?
Joel Rogers	113	3	A move to Georgia doesn’t mean you can’t play in the Rhino!
Colby Smith	113	2	Applies same rope-a-dope strategy used to help clients under SEC investigations to golf
Lachlan McLean	113.7	3	Euphoria from Duke’s early NCAA loss could bring him back to the field after 4 years away
Chris Wyckoff	114.5	2	Just hoping wife will let him complete this year’s round
Joe Guarino	123	2	Will he again channel Wonder-Twin powers with Krehmeyer this year?
Sean Collins	132	3	Mr. “DNF” has only one recorded Rhino score in 3 rounds played
Toby Bush	133	2	Purports to be from Great Britain . . . and yet golf seems so foreign to him
Brian Collins	135.5	3	Still arguing that no rule specifically prohibits a golfer from teeing it up in the fairway
Joe Ho	138.7	3	Bionic knees have propelled star of Rhino instructional DVD to new highs/lows
Will Packard	145	1	In Rhino debut, Mr. Nice Guy proved the adage about where nice guys often finish
Hernando Herrera	145.5	2	Improved by 25 strokes from 2009 to 2010; at this rate, will be competitive in . . . 2030?
Brad Rosenthal	146.4	5	Used to own the boobie prize; has been shut out since 2006. Must dig deep for big numbers
Carrie Vinch	149.5	3	Oddly, husband Bruce plays better with Carrie than in years when she’s not in the field.
Marc Margolis	150	3	Former boobie prize winner has been absent for past 2 years
